

The Wanting Audit

How Do You Know What You Want?

Answer fast, before the sensible part of your brain edits the reply. Then shrink one answer into a single-week experiment.

What I keep returning to the subject or problem you drift back to, unpaid and unasked

What I'm quietly envious of whose working life gives you a small pang?

What I'd do if nobody ever knew strip out status and approval

My one-week experiment a start, an end, and a decision at the finish